Visiting the College

Visiting Times

Members of the public are welcome to visit St Edmund Hall between 10am and 4pm daily. Occasionally the College is closed to the public during these times, such as during large College events, so you may wish to call the Porters’ Lodge [1] on 01865 279000 to confirm opening hours on the day of your visit.

Please note that groups larger than 12 people must contact the Porters’ Lodge to make prior arrangements for their visit.

Prospective students are welcome to visit at any time. Occasionally the College is closed, such as during large college events, so please call the Porters’ Lodge [1] to confirm opening hours on the day of your visit. You can also sign up for one of our Open Days [2] to see the College and meet current students and Tutors.

St Edmund Hall Alumni are welcome to visit the College at any time. Please bring your Oxford alumni card [3] and present this to the Porters on arrival.

Getting to the Hall

The College has no parking facilities for visitors, so we strongly recommend that you travel by public transport wherever possible.

By coach/bus

Both the major bus companies in Oxford, Stagecoach (Oxford Tube [4]) and the Oxford Bus Company (X90 [5]), run frequent coach services from London Victoria. Ask the driver to drop you at the Queen’s Lane/High Street bus stop, which is opposite the College.

For visitors from overseas, the Airline [6] bus service offers frequent coach services from London Heathrow and London Gatwick airports. These also stop at Queen’s Lane, right by the College.

Oxford is well served by National Express [7] coach services from all over the country.

By train
Direct rail services connect Oxford to London, Birmingham, the South Coast and Northern England, and connections are available to many other parts of the country. National Rail Enquiries [8] can help you plan your journey. Trains from London leave at least hourly and the journey takes approximately 60 minutes.

If arriving by train, the College is about 15-20 minutes walk from the station, or the number 5 bus from the station will drop you at Queen's Lane, right outside the College.

Park & Ride

If travelling by car we strongly recommend you use one of Oxford's Park & Ride [9] services, which run into the city centre from five car parks around the edge of the city.

By car

If you do decide to drive into the city centre, parking [10] can be difficult to find and is expensive. The nearest public car park to the College is in St Clement's Street [11], or there is very limited on-street parking around the city centre. Do check the signs carefully to ensure you follow any parking regulations, as Oxford traffic wardens are very active. There is a disabled parking space available directly outside the main entrance to the College.
